SOME DAMAGE BY EXCESSIVE RAIN.

But Very Few Places Report Drought—Features Fine and Fruit Prospects Encouraging—The Summary By States.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The signal service crop review of last week is as follows:

Indiana—Weather very favorable to wheat harvest, which is nearly completed. Rye, clover and hay are also being harvested; corn growing very fast; oats much improved.

Michigan—Local rains poorly distributed and more rain much needed. Crops are, however, doing well. A light crop of wheat will be ready for harvest in the southern counties next week.

Iowa—Excessive rains in west portion of state caused considerable damage to crop and buildings, but the prospects are generally good over a larger portion of the state. Wheat harvest in progress in southern counties, where the oat crop is too heavy and some damage reported by lodging and rust.

Wisconsin—Favorable weather has improved crop and fruit conditions during the past week. Cranberry crop will be slightly less than last season, owing to May frost. Rain needed badly in east and central counties.

Arkansas—Weather greatly beneficial to all crops. Cotton and corn growing nicely. Fruit of all kinds doing well. Some sections used rain.

Texas—Good showers in all sections. Cotton blooming in south Texas and crop very promising throughout the state. Corn average, except in some localities where it is short on account of drought.

Louisiana—Showers in all sections greatly benefited all crops. Cotton bolls forming; fruit very promising; rice in excellent condition. Grass and weeds getting a start in some localities.

North Carolina—Much sunshine and warm weather very favorable. All crops improved. Rainfall badly distributed and excessive in a few places. Cotton improved but small and grassy.

Virginia—Much sunshine, but rather too much rain for harvesting; weather generally beneficial to growing crops; wheat harvest well advanced.

Missouri—A fine week for all farm operations. Wheat harvest two-thirds finished; yield good, injury from rain less than expected. Oats improving, meadows never better.

Ohio—Week very favorable. Grain crops promising. Corn weedy in places. Apples dropping. Wheat harvest commenced in middle section, large yield.

Illinois—Rainfall badly distributed. Wheat harvest nearly completed in southern district. Corn excellent. Hay cutting in progress.

Tennessee—Corn, cotton and tobacco growing finely. Wheat threshing begun, fine yield. The weather of the week was favorable for cleaning crops and the outlook is encouraging.

Kentucky—Wheat harvest completed, crop above the average. Corn and oats greatly improved. Fruit prospects promising. More rain needed.

Kansas—Excessive rains in Cottonwood, Neosho and Verdigris valleys. Rain deficient in west. Conditions generally greatly beneficial to all crops except in flooded districts. Wheat harvest general. Corn fair; flax and oats fine.

Nebraska—Corn is improved in condition, but still very backward. Small grains promise very large yield. Heavy rainfall on Thursday and Friday decidedly injurious.

Minnesota—Fine growing weather. Crops in excellent condition throughout the state. Corn late and greatly improved.

The Dakotas—Fine growing weather in both states. Small grain ripening rapidly; general prospects best for years.

Colorado—Weather for the week very beneficial to all crops. First crop of hay about all harvested. Hail did some damage in east Colorado on Thursday.

Middle Atlantic and New England States—All crops have been improved by the favorable weather during the past week. New Jersey reports the most favorable week of the season for growth and cultivation. Hay cutting in progress as far north as southern New England, where the hay crop is estimated to be above three-quarters of the average. Fruit is reported as excellent in New York. Harvesting will be general in the middle Atlantic states during the coming week with prospects of a large crop and the season promises to be very productive.

California—All crops have been benefited by the warm weather in the northern part of the state. Hay is over an average crop in southern California. Excellent growing weather and the crops are in fine condition.
